

NEWS BRIEFS

Tag Heuer, Grace Coddington, The Webster and Bloomingdale's – Live news

January 21, 2016

Grace Coddington

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Jan. 20:

Tag Heuer puts a face to watch displays through ambassador project

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Swiss watchmaker Tag Heuer is taking its ambassador relationship a step further through consumer-facing personalization.

Click here to read the entire article

Grace Coddington to add "at large" to Vogue title

After being creative director of American Vogue for nearly 30 years, Grace Coddington has announced her plans to step down from her role at the Cond Nast-owned publication.

Click here to read the entire article

The Webster sets sights outside Florida with Houston Galleria boutique

High-end retailer The Webster is expanding beyond its Floridian roots with a new boutique in Houston, TX.

Click here to read the entire article

Bloomingdale's continues Middle East expansion with Kuwaiti location

Department store chain Bloomingdale's has announced that it will increase its Middle Eastern presence with the opening of a store in Kuwait.

Click here to read the entire article