

NEWS BRIEFS

Kering, Ferragamo, Queen Elizabeth II and luxury travel – Live news

April 22, 2016

Gucci spring/summer 2016 collection

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from April 21:

Luxury resorts top travel destination for private jet owners

The interests of private plane owners may surprise those in the travel industry, as they extend beyond the expected affluent desires.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Click here to read the entire article

Ferragamo CEO plans exit within 2016

Italian fashion label Salvatore Ferragamo's CEO Michele Norsa is stepping down from his position after 10 years on the job.

Click here to read the entire article

Kering comparable luxury sales up 2.6pc in Q1

French conglomerate Kering's luxury sales in the first quarter of 2016 were buoyed by Western Europe, Japan and emerging markets, as it managed growth in a challenging environment.

Click here to read the entire article

British brands fete Queen Elizabeth's birthday with personal memories

In honor of Queen Elizabeth II's 90th birthday on April 21, luxury brands sent their well wishes via social media.

Click here to read the entire article

Robb Report boosts international presence with British title

Continuing its international expansion efforts, lifestyle publication Robb Report has launched a British edition.

Click here to read the entire article