

NEWS BRIEFS

Chinese malls, Altuzarra, Trump and Tamara Mellon – News briefs

September 14, 2016

Altuzarra Ming sweater

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury marketing:

China faces serious oversupply of shopping malls

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

As many as one-third of China's shopping malls are set to close within five years due to a serious oversupply of structures throughout the country, according to a new state-sponsored report, per WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on WWD

Could Altuzarra become the next great American brand?

Ralph, Calvin, Donna. Tommy, Michael, Tory. Fashion in the United States has long been dominated by superstar designers whose brands are almost synonymous with their first names, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion

Trump luxury hotel opens just blocks from the White House

Republican presidential nominee Donald Trump opened the latest outpost in his real estate empire on Sept. 12, a luxury hotel in a historic building five blocks from the White House that underwent a two-year, $200 million renovation, reports Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Tamara Mellon sues Jimmy Choo

Tamara Mellon has filed a lawsuit against Jimmy Choo, the company that she co-founded in the mid-Nineties, according to British Vogue.

Click here to read the entire article on British Vogue

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.