

The News and Intelligence You Need on Luxury

NEWS BRIEFS

DVF, Swarovski, Trump and real estate – News briefs

November 18, 2016

Karlie Kloss for Swarovski's Brilliant Inspiration campaign

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury marketing:

Paolo Riva resigns as CEO of Diane von Furstenberg

Diane von Furstenberg announced Thursday that chief executive Paolo Riva is resigning form the company, effective immediately, per Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion

Swarovski forum details China's growth cities, multibrand potential

Though there wasn't much of a vista from the 93rd floor of the Park Hyatt on a rainy Thursday in Shanghai, inside there were sparkling jewels and ideas in abundance as Swarovski hosted its first innovation forum in China's financial capital, says Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

New York residents dump Trump from luxury flats

Hundreds of residents of Trump Place in New York City have signed a petition to remove the president-elect's name from their building, reports the Telegraph.

Click here to read the entire article on the Telegraph

Luxury market sees no post-election uptick

Many brokers predicted a bounce in activity in the slowing luxury Manhattan market once the contentious presidential election was over. But early indicators show that isn't the case, according to the Wall Street Journal.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.