

NEWS BRIEFS

Women's March, Gucci, Lalique and Chaumet – Live news

January 24, 2017

Katy Perry in Moschino at the Women's March

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Jan. 23:

Chaumet puts lens on up-and-coming film talent

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

French jeweler Chaumet is supporting up-and-coming film talent by giving them a public spotlight.

Click here to read the entire article

Lalique links with Singapore Airlines for elevated travel retail

French lifestyle brand Lalique is bringing its crystal wares to new heights through an alliance with Singapore Airlines.

Click here to read the entire article

Gucci celebrates individuality in female-centric collaboration

Italian fashion label Gucci is bringing together three of its brand friends for a project, playing off their distinct personalities.

Click here to read the entire article

Harvey Nichols hires head of menswear from Harrods

British department store Harvey Nichols has appointed David Aquilina its new head of menswear.

Click here to read the entire article

Fashion brands march with women via social media

Political statements were in fashion this past weekend as brands showed their support for those participating in the global Women's March.

Click here to read the entire article

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.