

The News and Intelligence You Need on Luxury

NEWS BRIEFS

Lanvin, Hudson's Bay Company, Tesla, real estate, Four Seasons, Sotheby's, Safilo – Live news

July 11, 2017

Saks owner HBC is still looking for its new CFO. Image credit: Saks Fifth Avenue

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from July 10:

Lanvin said hiring Olivier Lapidus as artistic director

French fashion label Lanvin has reportedly found its replacement for former artistic director of women's collections Bouchra Jarrar.

Click here to read the entire article

Sotheby's to sell mementos of space exploration in upcoming auction

Auction house Sotheby's is celebrating the 48th anniversary of the moon landing with an auction of out-of-this-world artifacts.

Click here to read the entire article

Four Seasons expands private jet itineraries following demand

Responding to heavy interest for its private jet journeys, Four Seasons Hotels & Resorts has added a third itinerary for 2018.

Click here to read the entire article

Despite increased "uberluxe" volume, average Manhattan real estate prices contracted in June

While the number of Manhattan residential real estate sales grew in June, the average sale price dropped to $2.2 million from $2.3 million the previous month.

Click here to read the entire article

Safilo modernizes North American headquarters as part of streamlining plan

Italian eyewear manufacturer Safilo is moving its North American headquarters closer to New York with the opening of a new campus in Secaucus, NJ.

Click here to read the entire article

HBC CFO stays on amid successor search

Saks Fifth Avenue parent company Hudson's Bay Company's chief financial officer is extending his tenure at the retail group as it searches for his replacement.

Click here to read the entire article

Tesla stabilizes South Australia's power grid while looking to sustainability

Urban housing prices in the top 150 international cities have risen to the highest they have been in nearly five years, suggesting that the overall luxury residential market is bouncing back.

Click here to read the entire article

China dominates global upscale real estate market, faces challenge from Scandinavia

Urban housing prices in the top 150 international cities have risen to the highest they have been in nearly five years, suggesting that the overall luxury residential market is bouncing back.

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.