

NEWS BRIEFS

Burberry, Qatar, Tag Heuer and real estate – News briefs

July 14, 2017

Burberry February campaign. Image credit: Burberry

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury:

Nearly a third of Burberry investors object to top executives' pay

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Nearly a third of shareholders in Burberry voted against the luxury goods company's executive pay report on Thursday, despite a move by its new finance chief Julie Brown to head off the opposition by foregoing a share options award worth up to 2.4 million pounds ($3.11 million), reports Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Tiny Qatar is living large despite monthlong Arab siege

It's been more than a month since four Arab nations cut land, sea and air routes to Qatar, but in the gas-rich Gulf nation's glimmering malls and luxury hotels there is little sign of hardship, says Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

Tag Heuer reaches settlement with Groupe Logo employees

A group of former employees of recently liquidated French eyewear manufacturer Groupe Logo that started legal action against Tag Heuer, the company's main client, have agreed to a settlement subject to court approval, Virginie Verfaillie Tanguy, the lawyer representing the LVMH Mot Hennessy Louis Vuitton-owned brand confirmed, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Singapore luxury penthouse on sale for \$72M sparks recovery hopes for high-end Asian market

The asking price for a new three-story Singapore penthouse, complete with a private pool on the 64th floor, has reached a dizzying S$100 million ($72.6 million), per Newsweek.

Click here to read the entire article on Newsweek

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.