

NEWS BRIEFS

Spain, Chanel, Cond Nast, Mot Hennessy, Karl Lagerfeld and Moschino – Live news

July 20, 2017

Cond Nast-owned Vogue fashion editorial print. Image courtesy of Cond Nast

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from July 19:

Spain is home to the most British citizens outside of UK

An increase of British travelers to Spain is supporting a positive future for tourism and a bounce back in second home sales for the latter market, according to a new report.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Click here to read the entire article

EU court sides with Chanel in monogram case

The European Union's General Court has ruled in favor of French atelier Chanel in a case regarding the use of a too-similar logo.

Click here to read the entire article

Cond Nast taps its extensive archives for decor venture

The imagery and cover art of Cond Nast titles such as Vogue and Vanity Fair can now be enjoyed as wall art, home decor and in some cases fashion accessories.

Click here to read the entire article

Mot Hennessy acquires first US craft whiskey-maker

Mot Hennessy, the wine and spirits division of French luxury conglomerate LVMH, has acquired a United States-based whiskey distiller.

Click here to read the entire article

Karl Lagerfeld to hold accessories pop-up in Milan

Fashion designer Karl Lagerfeld will open a temporary shop at high-end department store Excelsior Milano during Milan Fashion Week.

Click here to read the entire article

Moschino's "bear-faced" beauty line to launch at Sephora

Italian fashion label Moschino will launch its first color cosmetics collection with beauty retailer Sephora in August.

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.