NEWS BRIEFS

Luxury resort designer, My Other Bag, Richemont and Burberry – News briefs

July 24, 2017

Chloe handbags are extremely popular. Image credit: Chloe

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Today in luxury:

The paradise maker: Meet luxury resort designer Bill Bensley

When a luxury resort developer wants to create a truly spectacular property that'll be talked about for years to come, there are only a handful of designers in Asia up to the task, reports CNN Travel.

Click here to read the entire article on CNN Travel

Louis Vuitton looking to take My Other Bag case to Supreme Court

After being shot down by the Second Circuit in its request for a rehearing of its case against My Other Bag, Louis Vuitton appears to be planning to take it to the United States' highest court. Earlier this month, Louis Vuitton filed an application to the Supreme Court to extend the time to file a petition for a writ of certiorari from May 14, 2017 to July 13, 2017, and the Supreme Court has granted the brand's request, per The Fashion Law.

Click here to read the entire article on The Fashion Law

Forget $10K watches, there's money in $2K handbags

$10,000 watches are a tough sell for Richemont these days, but shoppers are snapping up $2,000 Marcie handbags and ruffled blouses from the company's fashion and leather label Chloe, according to Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article

What should Burberry do next?

The iconic British brand needs a refresh. Here's what Christopher Bailey and Marco Gobbetti must do to get the business back on track, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion