

NEWS BRIEFS

Maria Grazia Chiuri, Birkin bags, Louise Linton and Maserati – News briefs

August 24, 2017

Jennifer Lawrence for Dior fall 2017. Image credit: Dior

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

An interview with Maria Grazia Chiuri, the first woman to helm Dior

In her first year as Creative Director of Dior, Maria Grazia Chiuri has embraced the global feminist zeitgeist head on. But as we joined her on travels from Tokyo to Calabasas and back to Paris, a more personal motivation came to light, per i-D.

Click here to read the entire article on i-D

A Birkin Bag in the box is worth a lifetime of debt

Jordan Tabach-Bank, the chief executive of New York Loan Company, picked the location because of its grand setting and high level of security. A few floors up from his pawnshop is the Gemological Institute of America, where gems are rated and future gemologists learn the trade, which explains the Fort Knox level of security, says The New York Times.

Click here to read the entire article on The New York Times

Brands distancing themselves from Louise Linton Instagram post

Valentino has no qualms in denying any ties to Louise Linton after the new wife of Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin posted on Instagram an image of herself exiting a government plane and provided a slew of designer hashtags, reports WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on WWD

Fiat weighs Maserati, parts spinoffs to boost value

Fiat Chrysler Automobiles is considering options including a plan to spin off the upscale Maserati and Alfa Romeo brands as well as its components operations, according to people familiar with the discussions, according to Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.