

NEWS BRIEFS

Gilt, Jeremy Scott, Versace 1969 and New York real estate – News briefs

September 6, 2017

Jeremy Scott designs for his namesake label and Moschino. Image credit: Jeremy Scott

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Gilt finally pivots away from flash sales

It's been 10 years since Gilt launched, pioneering the flash-sale craze that consumed online shopping for years, reports Racked.

Click here to read the entire article on Racked

Jeremy Scott is the man fashion loves to hate

Fashion Week is a circus, and no one relishes the big top more than Jeremy Scott, per The New York Post.

Click here to read the entire article on The New York Post

Versace doppelgänger sues to keep using brand name

Versace is facing legal action over the rights to its very name, according to WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on WWD

New York luxury market has slowest week of the year, ending summer with a whimper

Townhouses were the talk of the luxury market last week, according to this week's Olshan Report, says Mansion Global.

Click here to read the entire article on Mansion Global

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.