

NEWS BRIEFS

Versace, looking back, Burberry and Bugatti – News briefs

September 19, 2017

Burberry's September 2017 collection was shown at London Fashion Week. Image credit: Burberry

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Versace said eyeing Kim Jones

The intrigue deepens at the House of Versace, reports WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on WWD

In fashion, the beauty \(and challenge\) of looking back

In the age of the heritage brand, does looking forward necessarily mean looking back? The Archives of Balenciaga, the 100-year-old fashion house, are held in a raw concrete warehouse space in Paris. There are 6,000 items in total - sculptural silk ball gowns and cocoon-shaped coats and a tobacco-brown chenille-embroidered lace coat once owned by Wallis, Duchess of Windsor - all shrouded in calico garment bags, says New York Times.

Click here to read the entire article on New York Times

It's the return of checks for Burberry

British fashion company Burberry Group Plc is betting on growth in its smaller handbag business and playing up its trademark check as new chief executive officer Marco Gobetti seeks to join the luxury industry's turnaround, per Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

Bugatti's single model could be a four-door

Supercar maker Bugatti the crown jewel in the Volkswagen Group portfolio is considering building a four-door model set to go on sale around 2024, according to Automotive News.

Click here to read the entire article on Automotive News

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.