

NEWS BRIEFS

Burberry, Belstaff, Halloween, Blancpain and Royal Yacht Brokers – Live news

November 1, 2017

Dolce & Gabbana's Halloween beauty look. Image credit: Dolce & Gabbana

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Oct. 31:

Blancpain makes room for hospitality in New York flagship

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Swiss watchmaker Blancpain is expanding its selling space in New York with the opening of a new flagship on Fifth Avenue.

Click here to read the entire article

Luxury beauty labels serve up dramatic holiday looks

Dior and Dolce & Gabbana are among the beauty brands helping consumers channel their darker sides this Halloween.

Click here to read the entire article

Belstaff finds new owner in Ineos

British petrochemical company Ineos has acquired fashion label Belstaff from JAB Luxury.

Click here to read the entire article

Christopher Bailey plans exit from Burberry

After 17 years at the helm of British fashion house Burberry, designer Christopher Bailey will be stepping down as president and chief creative officer next year.

Click here to read the entire article

Royal Yacht Brokers gets on board with bitcoin

Responding to the rise of cryptocurrency use in other luxury sectors, Royal Yacht Brokers is now accepting these digital payment methods for rentals and sales.

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.