

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Michael Kors, JD, Burberry, Van Cleef & Arpels and Fornasetti

December 18, 2017

Michael Kors is breaking from using real fur. Image credit: Michael Kors

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Dec. 18:

Burberry turns brand ambassador Kris Wu into co-designer

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

British fashion label Burberry is translating its mutual admiration with Chinese Canadian musician Kris Wu into a design partnership.

Click here to read the entire article

Van Cleef & Arpels opens first Vancouver store

French jeweler Van Cleef & Arpels is expanding its retail presence in Canada with the opening of a Vancouver, British Columbia boutique.

Click here to read the entire article

Michael Kors, Jimmy Choo opt out of fur

Fashion group Michael Kors Holdings is the latest luxury player to eschew fur in favor of faux alternatives.

Click here to read the entire article

JD, Tencent invest in off-price platform Vipshop

Ecommerce company JD.com and technology firm Tencent have entered into share subscription agreements with discount retailer Vipshop.

Click here to read the entire article

Fornasetti contrasts modernist furniture with classical art in Roman museum

Italian decorative arts company Fornasetti is combining the elegant majesty of ancient and classical artworks housed at the Museum of Palazzo Altemps with the modern, surrealist style of brand's furniture.

Click here to read the entire article

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.