

NEWS BRIEFS

Lanvin, Chaumet, Gisele Bndchen and Costco – News briefs

February 6, 2018

Gisele Bündchen for Vogue Italia, February 2018. Image credit: Vogue Italia, photo by Jamie Hawkesworth

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury:

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

What is going on with Lanvin?

WWD is reporting that French fashion house Lanvin is in discussions with several investors to sell a majority stake in the company, which has struggled with declining sales ever since the surprise departure of designer Alber Elbaz in 2015, says Fashion Week Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Fashion Week Daily

CEO talks: Chaumet's Jean-Marc Mansvelt on pushing history forward

Jean-Marc Mansvelt is the archetype of a French luxury executive, according to WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on WWD

Gisele Bündchen makes history with a makeup-free Vogue Italia cover

Gisele Bündchen has graced the cover of more than a thousand magazines (truly). But you've never seen the supermodel quite like this: For the cover of February's Vogue Italia, Bündchen opened the doors of her home to photographer Jamie Hawkesworth for the most intimate photoshoot she's ever done, per Huffington Post.

Click here to read the entire article on Huffington Post

Why does Costco sell luxury items?

When I shop at Costco, I saw they sell $20,000 diamond rings and $17,000 bottles of 60-year-old whiskey. Why do they sell stuff like that at Costco (which is a discount wholesaler)? I mean, if you're in the market for an uber luxury item, would you really get it at Costco? asks MarketPlace.

Click here to read the entire article on MarketPlace

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.