

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Fendi, Chanel, Kering, Swiss watches, David Yurman and Tesla

February 20, 2018

Fendi has a new CEO. Image credit: Fendi

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Feb. 20:

Swiss watch exports see steep increases in China, Hong Kong

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

The Swiss watch industry is beginning 2018 on a positive note, with exports achieving double-digit growth year-over-year.

Click here to read the entire article

David Yurman takes female empowerment position to film

Jeweler David Yurman is expanding on its corporate efforts to empower women by executive producing a documentary.

Click here to read the entire article

Kering, London College of Fashion launch open-access sustainability course

Conglomerate Kering is encouraging the luxury and fashion community to adopt sustainability through education.

Click here to read the entire article

Chanel links with Farfetch on multichannel retail tech

French couture house Chanel is working with Farfetch to connect consumers' online and offline experiences through technology.

Click here to read the entire article

LVMH taps Dior exec to head Fendi

Luxury conglomerate Mot Hennessy Louis Vuitton has named Serge Brunschwig the new chairman and CEO of Italian fashion house Fendi.

Click here to read the entire article

Tesla's delayed Model 3 could cause customers to cancel orders

A series of delays and record losses for electric vehicle company Tesla has left its customers unhappy and in danger of abandoning the company, according to a new report from Autolist.

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.