

NEWS BRIEFS

Charlotte Olympia, Mercedes-Benz, Airbnb and Aston Martin – News briefs

February 23, 2018

The Mercedes S63. Image credit: Photographer: Hannah Elliott/Bloomberg

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury:

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Charlotte Olympia files for bankruptcy in US, set to liquidate

Charlotte Dellal's luxury footwear brand looks to be over its head in debt in the U.S. as its other operations are losing money, reports Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

The \$179.5K Mercedes S63 AMG convertible is cushy but cutthroat

The 2018 Mercedes-Benz S63 AMG Cabriolet is the fastest, plushiest yachtlike four-seater drop-top you can get for the money. And at $179,500 it's a lot of money, so it had better be good, says Bloomberg Pursuits.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg Pursuits

Stymied by regulators, Airbnb looks to luxury vacations, hotels for growth

Airbnb is rolling out new services aimed at attracting travelers looking for luxury accommodations and traditional hotels, the latest move to contend with sputtering growth in its original home-renting business, according to Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Aston Martin's luxury condo revs up for 2021 completion

Back in 2016, Aston Martin revealed its plan to expand into luxury real estate with a new sail-shaped condo in Miami, FL. Construction work recently began and now the automaker has shared additional information on the project, as well as some images showing what it's going to look like inside, per New Atlas.

Click here to read the entire article on New Atlas

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.