

NEWS BRIEFS

M&A, Moncler, Anbang and Nirav Modi – News briefs

February 28, 2018

Moncler is looking ahead. Image credit: Moncler

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Who will LVMH and Kering buy next?

The luxury goods industry is ripe for further consolidation. LVMH has surmounted most of its internal issues DKNY has been sold, DFS is out of its loss-making Hong Kong airport concessions, even the long-troubled Marc Jacobs seems on its way out of the woods and is ready to move, probably during the next slowdown in the sector, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion

Italy's Moncler expects to outshine luxury market with online push

Italy's Moncler expects to outperform the luxury industry in 2018 by pursuing online sales and targeting younger customers, the luxury jacket and coat maker said on Feb. 27, according to Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Want to buy a luxury hotel in the US? Try China's insurance regulator

When Chinese regulators seized control of Anbang Insurance Group Co., they took ownership of more than a dozen luxury U.S. hotels, including New York's famed Waldorf Astoria.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

Nirav Modi's Firestar Diamond files for bankruptcy in US

Firestar Diamond Inc, the flagship company of billionaire Nirav Modi who is at the centre of India's biggest-ever bank scam, has filed for bankruptcy in the United States, per The Times of India.

Click here to read the entire article on The Times of India

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.