

NEWS BRIEFS

Dolce & Gabbana, Saudi Arabia, Mercedes-Benz and Puerto Rican fashion News briefs

April 23, 2018

Dolce & Gabbana's runway opened with drones. Image credit: Dolce & Gabbana

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Dolce & Gabbana's Alta Moda descends on Mexico City and Sophia Loren comes along for the ride

"I am very happy they are here in Mexico: They make every woman look so elegant." Anglica Rivera, wife of President Enrique Peña Nieto, neatly summed up the mood of the crowd at the Museo Soumaya last night as Dolce & Gabbana brought its Alta Moda road show to Mexico City, writes Vogue.

Click here to read the entire article at Vogue

Saudi women spend big on makeup, even if it's just a glimpse

Green lipstick, blue lipstick and 40 shades of foundation to choose from are just some of the reasons 18-year-old Shahad al-Qahtani is excited about superstar Rihanna's makeup line debut in Saudi Arabia, per The Washington Post.

Click here to read the entire article on The Washington Post

The Vision Mercedes-Maybach Ultimate Luxury SUV is way too gargantuan to be OK

Following on the heels of the Vision Mercedes-Maybach 6 that we saw at Pebble Beach in 2016, images of the new Vision Mercedes-Maybach Ultimate Luxury SUV concept leaked today ahead of the 2018 Beijing Auto Show. And it is large. Massive. Vast. Colossal, says Jalopnik.

Click here to read the entire article at Jalopnik

How Puerto Rico's fashion industry is reinventing itself after Hurricane Maria

San Juan Moda, Puerto Rico's largest Fashion Week, would be the first time one writer returned to the island since Hurricane Mara. Here she explains how an industry is coming together to rebuild, according to Glamour.

Click here to read the entire article at Glamour.

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.