

NEWS BRIEFS

Tesla, Cartier, luxury real estate and JD.com – News briefs

June 19, 2018

Mary Charteris, Tyrone Wood and Harley Viera-Newton. Image credit: Richard Young/REX/Shutterstock.

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Tesla severance offer draws the line on worker-safety concerns

Language in a confidential severance agreement Tesla Inc. is using as part of the biggest job cut in its history is likely to deter dismissed employees from going public with worker safety concerns, according to employment-law experts, says Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire story on Bloomberg

Cartier hosts queen's cup in Windsor

"This is Cartier mixing modernity and tradition," said the jeweler's U.K. managing director Laurent Feniou, who was back at Guards Polo Club in Windsor to host this year's Cartier Queen's Cup, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire story on Women's Wear Daily

Downtown led Manhattan's luxury real estate market last week

Manhattan's luxury real estate market is continuing its steady summer pace, powered by downtown deals, according to the latest Olshan report released Monday, reports Mansion Global.

Click here to read the entire story on Mansion Global

Google's JD.com deal shows Silicon Valley still wants in on China

For Google, a half a billion dollars is a drop in the bucket. But that money could have an outsize impact on the American tech giant's ability to re-enter China, says The New York Times.

Click here to read the entire story on The New York Times

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.