

NEWS BRIEFS

Brioni, Altagamma, Louis Vuitton, Cunard, Gucci and Mandarin Oriental – Live news

July 30, 2018

Harvey Keitel for Brioni spring/summer 2018. Image credit: Brioni

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from July 27:

Gucci takes housewares out of home

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Italian fashion label Gucci is making its Dcor collection larger than life through the latest edition of its Art Wall project.

Click here to read the entire article

Mandarin Oriental links with Long Island hotel for Hamptons hospitality

Mandarin Oriental, New York is giving guests a taste of the city and the country through a partnership with The Inn at Windmill Lane.

Click here to read the entire article

Louis Vuitton fetes photography festival via travel guide

French fashion label Louis Vuitton is debuting the first seasonal edition in its City Guide series in honor of the Rencontres d'Arles photography fair.

Click here to read the entire article

Altagamma explores changing world in design summit

Italian luxury organization Altagamma is investigating the rapid evolution happening in consumer behavior and culture through an upcoming conference.

Click here to read the entire article

Brioni creative director leaves label

Italian menswear label Brioni's creative director Nina-Maria Nitsche is leaving the Kering-owned label.

Click here to read the entire article

Cunard enlists passengers to share voyage experiences

Cruise line Cunard is highlighting its guest experiences and customer service in a new campaign that shares what its transatlantic journeys offer as opposed to traditional cruises.

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.