

NEWS BRIEFS

Chanel, luxury stock, Vivienne Westwood, New York and BMW – News briefs

October 17, 2018

Chanel no 5 red bottle limited-edition. Image credit: Chanel

---

By STAFF REPORTS

The iconic Chanel N 5 is launching in a limited-edition red bottle

For the first time in the fashion house's history, the legendary Chanel N 5 fragrance has been redesigned in red, a limited-edition which can be pre-ordered as of today, says Harpers Bazaar.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Click here to read the entire story on Harpers Bazaar

Vivienne Westwood says no to fracking with Abba

Today in Lancashire, Dame Vivienne Westwood got footloose for an important cause. The designer and longtime activist participated in a protest against the fracking practices of Cuadrilla oil and gas, and instead of merely abba marching down the streets outside the company's headquarters, she decided to start dancing, says Vogue

Click here to read the entire story on Vogue

You need to make more than \$713,706 to be in New York City's 1pc

The New York City Independent Budget Office recently released 2016 income tax data filed by residents of the city, says Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire story on Bloomberg

BMW designed these tiny luxury cabins for city life take a look inside

As cities across the world contend with massive housing shortages, architects have developed new ways to build in miniature. Recent years have ushered in a wave of tiny homes, backyard units, printable 3D houses, and livable yachts, all of which aim to maximize space and minimize cost.

Click here to read the entire story on Business Insider

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.