

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Fendi, Bonhams, Johnnie Walker, Vestiaire Collective, Lyft and Riley Home

October 17, 2018

#FendiMania is a logo-centric collection. Image credit: Fendi

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Oct. 17:

Vestiaire Collective rebrands in push that promotes “the new luxury”

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: just released
State of Luxury 2018 Save $246 ▶

Luxury consignment platform Vestiaire Collective is debuting a new brand image that looks to reflect its aspirational take on the increasingly popular resale market.

Click here to read the entire article

Lyft leans further into sharing economy with subscription model

Ridesharing platform Lyft is launching a subscription plan for its frequent users, putting further pressure on the automotive market as the company aims to make car ownership more of an option than a necessity.

Click here to read the entire article

Fendi looks to incite fashion frenzy with drop

Italian fashion label Fendi is making a push into streetwear-style retail with a limited drop of merchandise.

Click here to read the entire article

Johnnie Walker blends house history with 50-year-old scotch

Scotch whisky maker Johnnie Walker is looking back into its own timeline for a special edition that dates back half a century.

Click here to read the entire article

Bonhams hires jewelry exec from Sotheby's

Auction house Bonhams has appointed Brett O'Connor as its senior international jewelry director and senior vice president, U.S.

Click here to read the entire article

DTC digital strategies must continue to evolve: Riley Home president

NEW YORK – As more high-end lifestyle companies launch online, it is vital for them to inform consumers about their products' inherent value in a creative manner to help them compete with heritage brands.

Click here to read the entire article

Click here to read the morning newsletter

© Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.