

TRAVEL AND HOSPITALITY

Mandarin Oriental moves into Beijing

October 30, 2018

Mandarin Oriental Wangfujing reception lobby. Image credit: Mandarin Oriental

By STAFF REPORTS

Hospitality company Mandarin Oriental Hotel Group is opening its first location in Beijing, set to open early next year.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: just released
State of Luxury 2018 Save $246 ▶

Mandarin Oriental Wangfujing, slated to open in 2019, will feature a rooftop terrace designed specifically for its views of Beijing. Named for its location, the new property is located in the Wangfujing district and includes a state-of-the-art spa.

Coming to Beijing

The new hotel is located on the upper two floors of the WF Central building and features 73 guest rooms. Each room is a minimum of about 600 square feet.

Its rooftop will feature a bar, in addition to two restaurants, all of which have access to the garden terrace. Café Zi will feature a variety of Asian cuisine and dim-sum, created by Michelin-star chef Wong Wing-Keung.

Mandarin Grill + Bar will have grill style selections, and the MO Bar will serve innovative cocktails and feature resident and international DJs.

Its spa will include four suites in addition to a 25-meter pool under a glass roof.

Mandarin Oriental expands into Beijing. Image credit: Mandarin Oriental

“Mandarin Oriental Wangfujing will become the prime hotel address in Beijing this winter, offering supreme comfort, impeccable service, incredible cuisine and an unmatched garden-terrace view of the UNESCO-listed Forbidden City”, said Mark Bradford, general manager of Mandarin Oriental Wangfujing, in a statement. “We are looking forward to welcoming guests very soon.”

The hotel group also brought its brand to Moscow with an upcoming hotel and residences.

Mandarin Oriental has signed a management agreement with local development firm Capital Group for a riverfront property in the city. Slated to open in 2021, this hotel will be the brand’s first in Russia (see story).

© Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.