

NEWS BRIEFS

Dover Street Market, China, Cadillac and real estate – News briefs

November 5, 2018

Cadillac's XT5. Image credit: Cadillac

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

T-shirts, sneakers, foam hippos: Dover Street Market makes its Los Angeles debut

"Long live brick-and-mortar. It's more important than ever." So says Adrian Joffe, president of Comme des Garons International and chief executive officer of Dover Street Market, which is set to open its sixth location, in Los Angeles, on Saturday, says Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Trump says he thinks US will reach trade deal with China

President Donald Trump said he thinks the U.S. and China will reach a deal to end the ongoing trade dispute and that it would be good for both sides, reports Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

General Motors hits pause on Cadillac subscription program

General Motors is putting its pioneering car subscription service Book by Cadillac on hold, highlighting the problems that traditional manufacturers face as they experiment with new business models to prepare for a world in which individual vehicle ownership is no longer the norm, according to the Financial Times.

Click here to read the entire article on the Financial Times

As Manhattan's most secretive skyscraper rises, a super-elite clientele emerges

A nearly 1,000-foot-tall tower rising on the southern edge of New York's Central Park is widely considered the city's most exclusive and expensive new development. It may also be the most secretive: The developer has refused to release images of unit interiors, and its chief executive refuses to be interviewed about it, per the Wall Street Journal.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.