

NEWS BRIEFS

Louis Vuitton, China, Brexit and Compass – News briefs

January 2, 2019

Louis Vuitton is in a legal battle over a toy purse. Image credit: Louis Vuitton

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

"Pooy Puitton" purse said to irk Louis Vuitton, prompts lawsuit

A California toy company has sued Louis Vuitton to stop the French luxury goods maker from interfering with its sales of a slime-filled, poop-shaped toy purse for children, Pooy Puitton, says Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Navigating cruelty-free beauty in China

China is the second-largest market for beauty and personal-care products globally, trailing only the U.S., and yet for many beauty companies, it might as well not exist, per Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

On both sides of the English Channel, authorities brace for "No Deal" Brexit customs snarls

Every day, around 5,000 cargo-laden trucks snake past the white chalk cliffs at this busy port and onto waiting ships that ferry them 21 miles across the English Channel to Calais in France, reports the Wall Street Journal.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

Compass quickly dominating the luxury turf

Compass, founded in 2012, the country's fastest-growing luxury real estate technology brokerage company is quickly dominating the luxury turf in 80 cities around the country. Today Compass has 165 offices with 7000 agents in 13 states and over 1,000 employees, according to Forbes.

Click here to read the entire article on Forbes

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.