

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Rebag, L'Officiel, Chopard, Gucci, Hermès and Snapchat

February 7, 2019

Rebag buys and sells secondhand bags from designer labels. Image credit: Rebag

By STAFF REPORTS

Rebag completes Series C funding

Secondhand seller Rebag has completed a Series C funding round, bring its total up to $52 million.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Click here to read the entire story

L'Officiel spotlights important causes from partners

High-fashion magazine L'Officiel is establishing a new program to foster growth within the nonprofit sector of its brand partners.

Click here to read the entire story

Chopard serves as official timekeeper for additional race endeavor

Swiss jeweler Chopard will be the official timekeeper of the Amelia Island Concours d'Elegance, as it honors an important driver for the jeweler.

Click here to read the entire story

Gucci latest to pull products due to blackface resemblance

Italian fashion label Gucci is the latest luxury brand to be in hot water thanks to accusations of depicting blackface in its designs.

Click here to read the entire story

Hermès reaffirms its commitment to Normandy

French fashion house Hermès is focusing on craftsmanship, as consumers look more towards transparency in the supply chain.

Click here to read the entire story

Snapchat halts user loss amid record revenues

Snap Inc. surpassed expectations with its earnings for the fourth quarter of 2018 as the social media platform has stymied the loss of users.

Click here to read the entire story

© 2019 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.