

NEWS BRIEFS

Giorgio Armani, Tesla, Choupette and Longines – News briefs

February 21, 2019

Longines HydroConquest Collection. Image credit: Longines

By STAFF REPORTS

Today in luxury:

Giorgio Armani on coed show, re-branding and Emporio Armani Caff and Ristorante

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

For the first time, the designer will hold a coed show for his signature line on the evening of Feb. 23 at Silos, the exhibition space he opened in 2015 which is also a first after years of showing at his Teatro. A day earlier, his Emporio Armani Caff & Ristorante, closed since May, will reopen after a complete makeover (the Emporio show will take place on Feb. 21), according to Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire story on Women's Wear Daily

Tesla would-be customers grouse as deposit refunds take months

Tamara Tanney got tired of waiting for a new Tesla, so she asked for a refund of her $1,000 deposit. It's been a year since the Toronto-based digital strategist canceled her fully refundable order, and the money still hasn't shown up in the financial statements she regularly checks, reports Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire story on Bloomberg

Choupette, Kurt Lagerfeld's cat, has a million reasons to purr

Karl Lagerfeld stole his famously pampered cat, Choupette, and was not ashamed to say so, per The New York Times.

Click here to read the entire story on The New York Times

Exclusive: Longines' deep sea-ready HydroConquest Collection

Longines has dived into a new sea of design. The luxury Swiss watchmaker has just unveiled the latest additions to its acclaimed HydroConquest Collection, made for those in the world of aquatic sports, says GQ.

Click here to read the entire story on GQ

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.