

NEWS BRIEFS

Ferragamo, Oscars fashion, Nordstrom and Trump – News briefs

February 26, 2019

Ferragamo's fall/winter 2018 campaign. Image courtesy of Ferragamo

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Ferragamo chairman says luxury shoemaker not up for sale

Ferragamo's chairman Ferruccio Ferragamo denied on Saturday the founding family could consider selling the eponymous luxury shoemaker, after speculation about a possible sale, reports Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Fashion with a dash of politics at the Oscars

The world's most important fashion show hit the red carpet Sunday at the 91st Academy Awards, as designer labels vied for attention-grabbing moments in the walkup to an unusual, host-less Oscars replete with new rules aimed at reversing a drop in viewership, says Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

Nordstrom's Manhattan story, how it's shaping up

For its Manhattan flagship, Nordstrom will be going big on food, service, technology and women's fashion and accessories, WWD has learned. Three of the flagship's seven floors will be devoted to women's apparel, a fourth level will be dedicated to designer fashion and designer accessories and shoes will be located separately, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Trump Org donates nearly \$200K to cover foreign profits

President Donald Trump's company said on Monday that it donated nearly $200,000 to the U.S. Treasury to make good on its promise two years ago to hand over profits from foreign governments using its properties, per The New York Times.

Click here to read the entire article on The New York Times

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.