

NEWS BRIEFS

Versace, Moda Operandi, Jaguar Land Rover and Amazon – News briefs

March 4, 2019

Moda Operandi Men's will offer fashion from the runway. Image courtesy of Moda Operandi

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Versace opens first boutique in Florence

Versace has unveiled its first boutique in Florence and the first in Italy modeled after a blueprint by Gwenaél Nicolas, reports Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

How a former Tesla executive is blowing up luxury fashion

It's 9 p.m. on a Thursday, and the night shift just started working at a studio space in lower Manhattan. Fashion photographers scurry about, shooting looks that just days earlier were draped over top models strutting the catwalk at New York Fashion Week, per Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

India's Tata Motors denies reports of JLR unit stake sale

India's Tata Motors Ltd. on Friday denied media reports that it was exploring options for its ailing luxury car unit Jaguar Land Rover Automotive Plc., according to Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Amazon's new waste-reduction strategy: Deliver only once a week

Amazon wants to reduce its carbon footprint and give customers more control over when they receive their packages. The company found a way to achieve both in one new program, says CNN.

Click here to read the entire article on CNN

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.