

NEWS BRIEFS

Louis Vuitton, LVMH, Aston Martin and real estate – News briefs

March 15, 2019

Looks from Louis Vuitton's Michael Jackson-inspired collection. Image credit: Louis Vuitton

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Louis Vuitton has a Michael Jackson problem

Virgil Abloh presented his second Louis Vuitton menswear show, inspired by the late global superstar and style icon Michael Jackson on Jan. 17, to rave reviews from critics and other industry insiders. Eight days later, "Leaving Neverland" debuted at the Sundance Film Festival, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion

LVMH said eyeing hotel development for Beverly Hills' Rodeo Drive

LVMH Mot Hennessy Louis Vuitton, owner of Dior, Givenchy and Louis Vuitton, is ramping up activity in the hospitality sector, eyeing three recently purchased properties on and around Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills for the opening of a Cheval Blanc hotel, several sources confirmed to WWD.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

James Bond to drive electric Aston Martin in new film: media reports

Famous for his high speed car chases, James Bond is hardly an obvious tree hugger. But the world's best known spy has apparently gone green, with British media reporting on Thursday that he is switching to an electric Aston Martin, according to Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

For these homeowners, more is more

Bob Sage has a dream and a strategy for achieving it. He wants a $7 million to $10 million condo with unobstructed ocean views in Ward Village, a multi-use development under construction in Honolulu, HI. To get there, he's buying five units from the project's developer, says the Wall Street Journal.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.