The independent hotel group has announced a list of new hotels coming into its group, many of which have breathtaking swimming pool designs and one-of-a-kind offerings, it says. A glass-bottomed pool in Miami, beachfront bungee jumping and themed pools in Singapore, rooftop wine bar in Mexico and an indoor swim space with views of the Mediterranean countryside in Spain are among the features at the properties.

Villa Eyrie in Vancouver, The Celino South Beach in Miami, The Outpost at Sentosa in Singapore, Hotel Amparo in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico and Finca Serena in Mallorca, Spain are the new hotels to join the independent group before this summer.

The Celino South Beach features a glass-bottom pool that can be viewed indoors in the hotel's atrium, while the pool itself offers views of the beach and Ocean Drive. It will open on June 15.

Opening this month, The Outpost hotel requires guests to be over the age of 10 and features varying pool themes for a unique experience, including the infinity Pamukkale Pool, Lazy River Pool, Adventure Pool and a children's play pool. The location also features bungee jumping and zip lining.

Hotel Amparo features the rooftop wine bar, as well as a local coffee shop.

Finca Serena, to open this month, features an independent space specifically for wellness, where its indoor pool is located, with far-reaching views of the countryside.

These announcements are a continuation of Small Luxury Hotels of the World's new 2019 offerings.

The group ramped up its offerings with new properties this month, including a first-time entrance into Egypt.

Small Luxury Hotels will have a presence in Egypt for the first time, with La Maison Bleue and Lazib Inn Resort & Spa coming into the organization. Additionally, nine other properties will also debut as part of Small Luxury Hotels, in a number of regions (see story).
