

NEWS BRIEFS

Film, Moncler, Rolls-Royce and Vancouver – News briefs

April 17, 2019

Moncler says its third quarter is going well. Image credit: Moncler

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Why fashion and luxury companies are investing in film

A new documentary about hip-hop stylists and designers began as an answer to a marketing puzzle. MCM Worldwide is one of many fashion and accessories houses that music stars made their own in the 1980s and '90s, but that history was in danger of being lost, says the Wall Street Journal.

Click here to read the entire article on the Wall Street Journal

Moncler to pay dividend in May, Remo Ruffini confirmed chairman

Moncler SpA shareholders on Tuesday approved the company's 2018 financial statement and the distribution of a gross dividend of 0.40 euros per share, for a total amount of more than 99.8 million euros to be paid on May 22, reports Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Rolls-Royce sees double-digit sales growth in China this year: CEO

Luxury carmaker Rolls-Royce expects to achieve double-digit sales growth in China this year, although it will be lower than the 40 percent rate it saw in 2018, its chief executive said on Tuesday, according to Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

The taxes that sent Vancouver's luxury housing market reeling

Levies target foreign buyers, empty homes and high-end properties, while prices in Canada's richest neighborhood are down 17 percent from their peak, per Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.