

NEWS BRIEFS

China, Anya Hindmarch, travel and the Middle East – News briefs

May 2, 2019

Anya Hindmarch was the first accessories brand to present at London Fashion Week. Image credit: Anya Hindmarch

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Secoo explains the four major types of luxury shoppers in China

Working with Tencent, Chinese online ecommerce platform Secoo has new findings about how best to appeal to the diverse groups of Chinese high-end shoppers, breaking down the outsized luxury market into four key segments, says Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Anya Hindmarch back at helm of luxury handbag brand

British fashion designer Anya Hindmarch has returned to the top of the luxury handbag and accessories brand that bears her name, eight years after stepping down as chief executive, reports the Financial Times.

Click here to read the entire article on the Financial Times

Book the table, then buy the plane tickets

For some travelers, trips are built around reservations at restaurants with Michelin stars or a place on the annual 50 Best Restaurants list, according to The New York Times

Click here to read the entire article on The New York Times

Chalhoub Group CEO discusses Middle East luxury retailer outlook

Patrick Chalhoub, chief executive officer of Dubai-based Chalhoub Group, which sells luxury brands in the Middle East, talks about its business outlook and strategy, per Bloomberg.

Click here to watch the video

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.