

NEWS BRIEFS

Mount Everest, Gucci, Farfetch, Thermador, International Fur Federation and tariffs – Live news

June 3, 2019

Mount Everest. Image credit: Wikimedia

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from May 31:

As adventure travel climbs, Mount Everest attracts the wealthy, daring

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

A chaotic climbing season on Mount Everest has drawn attention to the lengths some of the most adventurous affluents will go to reach the world's highest peak.

Click here to read the entire story

Gucci, Farfetch invite fashion fans into creative individuals' homes

Italian fashion label Gucci is building a community of loyal fans on ecommerce platform Farfetch.

Click here to read the entire story

Thermador heightens offerings for its design competition

Luxury appliance maker Thermador is ramping up its initiative to source up-and-coming talent, growing its Kitchen Design Challenge.

Click here to read the entire story

International Fur Federation continues fight for relevance with documentary

As the luxury fashion industry's banning of fur grows, The International Fur Federation is determined to keep its business alive with a documentary said to dispel myths.

Click here to read the entire story

Additional tariffs cause an uncertain future for US retail

The retail landscape in the United States continues to be uncertain, as President Donald Trump announces tariffs on Mexico.

Click here to read the entire story

Click here to read this morning's newsletter

Webinar on June 12: "Automotive: Consumers Truly in Driver's Seat"

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.