

NEWS BRIEFS

Hermès, Marc Jacobs, luxury branding and Prada – News briefs

June 5, 2019

Marc Jacobs' partners with Miley Cyrus. Image credit: Marc Jacobs

By STAFF REPORTS

Hermès CEO talks makeup, crocodile skins, leather alternatives

There will be color, teased Axel Dumas, chief executive officer of Hermès International, revealing a few details about plans by the French luxury firm to launch a makeup line next year, per Women's Wear Daily.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Click here to read the entire story on Women's Wear Daily

Miley Cyrus and Marc Jacobs debut a "Don't f*ck with my freedom" hoodie benefitting Planned Parenthood

Miley Cyrus has teamed up with Marc Jacobs to release a $175 pink hoodie benefitting Planned Parenthood. The star announced the news on her Instagram Tuesday, using the hashtags #WomensRightsAreHumanRights and #DONTFUCKWITHMYFREEDOM, reports Elle.

Click here to read the entire story on Elle

At Kering and LVMH, corporate branding goes beyond the logo

In an effort to earn the respect of demanding consumers and woo potential employees, fashion's biggest conglomerates are wrapping their portfolios in a unifying set of corporate principles, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire story on Business of Fashion

Prada's Lorenzo Bertelli sees startups as path to innovation

The Prada Group is sponsoring a Milan-based fashion-tech accelerator that is the first fashion-focused program from global startup network Startupbootcamp and one of the first public projects spearheaded by Prada Group scion Lorenzo Bertelli, who joined the family business as head of marketing and communications in 2017, according to Vogue Business.

Click here to read the entire story on Vogue Business

© 2019 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.