

NEWS BRIEFS

Hudson Yards, Richemont, CFDA and Children's Day – News briefs

June 6, 2019

Hudson Yards' Conservatory. Image credit: The Conservatory

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Hudson Yards's The Conservatory overhauls model after 2 months

The New York City store opened in March promising to bring the best of online shopping to bricks-and-mortar. It has since pivoted away from a showroom model, says Vogue Business.

Click here to read the entire story on Vogue Business

Richemont's Bernard on balancing tradition with current trends in luxury

For Alain Bernard, president and chief executive officer of Richemont North America, leveraging the inherent strengths of the group's various design maisons is essential to its success. But, Bernard stressed, one must be mindful of the present and the ever-changing needs of clients while also having a keen eye on the future, says Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire story on WWD

The CFDA enters its Tom Ford era at 2019 awards

The American fashion industry's annual awards ceremony said goodbye to chairwoman Diane von Furstenberg and honoured Jennifer Lopez, Brandon Maxwell, Rick Owens, Eileen Fisher and Carine Roitfeld, says Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire story on BoF

Here's how Burberry, MCM, Montblanc celebrated Children's Day in China

Children's Day may be less known in the West, but in China, it's a well established holiday, by both adult and kids. While we looked for new marketing campaigns, it seems like this year's Children's Day has received less spotlight than previous years, which means less competition for brands that actually create a thoughtful campaign. Below, three of the best examples based on their creativity, engagement and execution, says Jing Daily.

Click here to read the entire story on Jing Daily

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.