

NEWS BRIEFS

Carolina Herrera, Kering, Hong Kong and Bentley – News briefs

June 13, 2019

Wes Gordon is making his mark on Carolina Herrera. Image credit: Carolina Herrera

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Bridget Foley's diary: Wes Gordon's early impact at Herrera

A vibrant installation greeted visitors to the Carolina Herrera showroom, where last week Wes Gordon showed his resort collection for the brand. The clothes and potted flowering plants were bright and pretty, in keeping with the vision Gordon saw for the house when he first signed on as a consultant working under "Mrs. Herrera," and with which he forged ahead upon taking full creative control after her retirement, per Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

There are no digitally native luxury brands. Kering wants to retrofit one

Despite the proliferation of digitally native, direct-to-consumer brands some with valuations north of $1 billion none has poised any serious competition to luxury fashion, according to Vogue Business.

Click here to read the entire article on Vogue Business

Uneasy calm in Hong Kong after day of violence over extradition bill

Hong Kong riot police and protesters braced for possible further clashes across the city's financial district on Thursday after a day of violence over an extradition bill that would allow people to be sent to mainland China for trial, reports Reuters.

Click here to read the entire article on Reuters

Bentley reveals the all-new Flying Spur luxury grand touring sedan

Bentley Motors has revealed the all-new Flying Spur for 2020, the latest grand touring sedan by the British luxury marque. Unlike the car it replaces, this Flying Spur has both the chauffeured clientele and the driving enthusiast in mind with a design that combines limousine luxury and sports sedan performance, says Forbes.

Click here to read the entire article on Forbes

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.