June 27, 2019

American Marketer will hold the torch for the best ideas and insights in marketing

By MICKEY ALAM KHAN

For a $500 billion spending category that has been totally upended and spoiling for more, marketing has surprisingly few big-picture, idea-driven, problem-solution conferences or webinars nationwide. American Marketer aims to change that.

Coming up

We kick off American Marketer's conference calendar Sept. 25 with AMCX: Customer Experience, a brand-focused customer experience summit in New York cohosted by Luxury Daily under the LuxeCX brand name. Speakers include senior executives at Apple, Piaget, Forrester Research, InterContinental Hotels' parent IHG, Ritz-Carlton Leadership Center, Christie's, South Coast Plaza, UBS, Taj Hotels' The Pierre, IBM, Magellan Jets, Gaggenau, Altiant, Shanker Inc., Customer Experience Group and the Luxury Institute all bywords for exquisite customer experience.

Two conferences that will return in a new and refreshed format from other media brands owned by Luxury Daily parent Napean are the 6th annual FirstLook: Marketing Strategy 2020 conference on Jan. 15 and the 7th annual Mcommerce Summit: State of Retail in June.

The flagship American Marketer Summit: State of Marketing will make its inaugural debut in April 2020, AMCX: Customer Experience is back in September 2020 and the Women Marketing Leaders Summit launches in October 2020.

The American Marketer Awards, whose call for nominations goes out in early fall, will honor excellence in marketing and retailing across all channels.

Descriptive and prescriptive in nature, our free webinars will deliver an overview of the market opportunity or challenges, offer alternatives on the best way forward, cite examples of brands getting it right and how, and top it off with best-practice tips from experts in the field. It is a model that has worked remarkably well for Luxury Daily, which is the world's leading luxury business publication.
