

NEWS BRIEFS

Tariffs, superyachts, Lancme and Taobao News briefs

October 9, 2019

Superyachts can cost up to $500 million. Image credit: Benetti

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

Savile Row braces for US tariffs

Caught up in a dispute over aviation subsidies, Savile Row tailors and Scottish knitwear brands are staring down 25 percent duties on 35 million pounds worth of U.S. exports, says Vogue Business.

Click here to read the entire article on Vogue Business

No one needs a superyacht, but they keep selling them

The end of summer is a nervous time for superyacht designers, and not because they fear that the owners of their latest creations may be disappointed with the first outings in the Mediterranean, reports The New York Times.

Click here to read the entire article on The New York Times

Amanda Seyfried named Lancme global ambassador

Amanda Seyfried has been named the new global ambassador for Lancme. She will appear in advertising campaigns for the brand starting in early 2020, per Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Think twice before you snub Taobao

Taobao used to be synonymous with cheap, trendy and sometimes counterfeit fashion, but China's largest e-commerce platform is now gaining fashion cred as more cool young designers credit it with their success, according to Business of Fashion.

Click here to read the entire article on Business of Fashion

---

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.