

NEWS BRIEFS

Givenchy, Lladr, Luxury Collection, Gucci, Chinese UHNWIs and Day of the Girl – Live news

October 14, 2019

Givenchy has unveiled a new ecommerce site for the U.S. Image credit: Givenchy

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news from Oct. 11:

Gucci leans into skateboarding subculture in portrait project

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Italian fashion label Gucci is illustrating the inspiration behind its Grip timepiece through a visual project centered on global skateboarding communities.

Click here to read the entire article

Lladr cofounder dies at 86

Spanish porcelain house Lladr's cofounder Vicente Lladr has died.

Click here to read the entire article

Luxury brands mark International Day of the Girl

In honor of International Day of the Girl, luxury brands are launching new charitable partnerships aimed at achieving gender equality.

Click here to read the entire article

Givenchy goes all-American for US ecommerce launch

French fashion house Givenchy has extended its direct-operated ecommerce store to the U.S. market.

Click here to read the entire article

Luxury Collection to make Saudi Arabian debut in 2020

Marriott's The Luxury Collection is expanding to Saudi Arabia with an upcoming opening in Jeddah.

Click here to read the entire article

Number of Chinese ultra-affluents dips as wealth grows: Hurun

For the second straight year, the number of ultra-wealthy Chinese has fallen despite gains in the stock market, according to Hurun's annual "Richest People in China Index."

Click here to read the entire article

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.