

NEWS BRIEFS

Fur, Montblanc, Prague and Fiat Chrysler/Peugeot – News briefs

December 19, 2019

The debate over sustainable fashion continues. Image credit: Blackglama

By STAFF REPORTS

Please be aware the clippings below may require a paid subscription to the listed media outlet to read an article in full.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Today in luxury:

The fur industry is fighting back

In 2019, luxury brands and retailers disavowed fur. Prada, Phillip Lim, Farfetch and Macy's, among others, joined an expanding group of industry leaders that already included Chanel, Burberry and Yoox Net-A-Porter Group in removing real animal fur from production and sales floors, per Vogue Business.

Click here to read the entire article on Vogue Business

The creative director of Montblanc says high-end brands no longer define what luxury means for the consumer and that's a good thing

Luxury just isn't what it used to be and that might be a good thing. At a November event in New York City, Montblanc creative director Zaim Kamal spoke with Business Insider about the changing look and concepts behind luxury in 2019, per Business Insider.

Click here to read the entire article on Business Insider

Czech this out: Luxury is flourishing in Prague

Surging Chinese tourism and a resilient local economy is making Prague a promising new hotbed of luxury consumption, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Click here to read the entire article on Women's Wear Daily

Fiat Chrysler and Peugeot to merge into \$46B automaker

PSA Group and Fiat Chrysler Automobiles NV agreed to combine to create the world's fourth-biggest carmaker, as the manufacturers prepare to shoulder the costly investments in new technologies transforming the industry, reports Bloomberg.

Click here to read the entire article on Bloomberg

---

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.