

NEWS BRIEFS

Elsewhere: Valuing art, fashion is weird, real fur vs. faux fur and HBC nears deal

December 31, 2019

HBC-owned Saks Fifth Avenue's light show in New York ends Jan. 2, continuing a well-loved tradition over the years. Image credit: Saks Fifth Avenue

---

By STAFF REPORTS

Elsewhere in luxury:

Clare McAndrew, the woman putting a value on art

Since 2002, the economist has been analyzing the activities of the global art market. Critics argue it is impossible but she is undaunted.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Please click here to read the article on FT.com

Fashion is weird: The 7 strangest clothing items of the year

Reflecting on the strangest new clothing inventions of the year.

Please click here to read the article on WSJ.com

Consumers are turning away from real fur, but faux fur is not a perfect fashion fix

Fake fur may be the preferred fashion choice of the moment, but neither fake nor real fur are ideal.

Please click here to read the article on Fortune.com

HBC majority shareholders, Catalyst near deal over higher offer

The two groups are in talks about Catalyst supporting a higher offer from the continuing shareholders, sources said.

Please click here to read the article on WWD.com

---