

NEWS BRIEFS

Elsewhere: Hudson's Bay, designers on subway, hip office design and Golden Globes

January 7, 2020

Jodie Comer, Keny Washington, Gwyneth Paltrow, Nicole Kidman and Cate Blanchett at the Jan. 5, 2020 Golden Globes. Image credit: The Times, thetimes.co.uk

By STAFF REPORTS

Elsewhere in luxury (may require paid subscription):

The future at Hudson's Bay

With a new deal to go private in the works, even more change could be coming to Hudson's Bay and Saks Fifth Avenue.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Please click here to read the entire article on WWD.com

Fashion designers' latest muse? The subway

Moschino, Tom Ford and others are using subways and train yards to inject a hint of gritty realism into collections, reflecting streetwear's sway on luxury labels.

Please click here to read the entire article on WSJ.com

The dark side of hip office design

Modern workspaces look great but are too often noisy battery chicken farms' for humans

Please click here to read the entire article on FT.com

Golden Globes fashion review Hollywood returns to glamour

Harriet Walker on the return of Hollywood glitz at awards season

Please click here to read the entire article on thetimes.co.uk