

NEWS BRIEFS

Matchesfashion, Givenchy, Bloomingdale's and Travel + Leisure

January 30, 2020

Travel+Leisure's rebrand to a modern look with better quality paper and larger trim size is effective with the March 2020 issue. Image courtesy of Meredith

By STAFF REPORTS

Luxury Daily's live news:

Matchesfashion touts new plastic-free packaging for global customers

Matchesfashion, one of the leading online luxury retailers worldwide, has responded to feedback from its customer base and introduced new packaging that respects the environment.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Please click here to read the article

France's Givenchy pairs Charlotte Rampling with Marc Jacobs for spring summer 2020 ad campaign

French fashion label Givenchy has turned to model and actor Charlotte Rampling and designer Marc Jacobs for its spring summer 2020 advertising campaign, continuing its signature couple theme.

Please click here to read the article

Francine Klein retires as Bloomingdale's merchandising chief after 45 years with retailer

Bloomingdale's has announced the retirement of Francine Klein, merchandising chief of the U.S. department store chain and a 45-year veteran of the company.

Please click here to read the article

Meredith's Travel + Leisure print magazine undergoes makeover to refresh look and feel

Magazine publisher Meredith Corp. is relaunching its Travel + Leisure title with the March issue, investing more resources in the print edition even as the larger industry walks back from the medium.

Please click here to read the article
