

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Chanel, Cartier, LG Signature and US luxury recovery

October 9, 2020

Louise de Cheigny for Chanel spring/summer 2021. Image credit: Chanel

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for Oct. 9:

Chanel teases spring/summer collection in relatable photo series

France's Chanel is sharing some personal black-and-white photographs and videos to promote the fashion label's ready-to-wear spring/summer 2021 collection.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Please click here to read the article

Cartier names Cond Nast alumna as first diversity executive

French jeweler Cartier has appointed Cond Nast alumna Erica Lovett as its first head of diversity and inclusion for North America.

Please click here to read the article

LG Signature enlists masterful golfers for digital effort

Electronics and appliance maker LG Signature is highlighting the importance of dedication and expertise in a digital campaign starring two professional golfers.

Please click here to read the article

Why the US luxury recovery is not comparable to China's

Economists love to use letters to describe the shape of an economic slump or that of a recovery. Fortunately for luxury brands, it seems that we are seeing some reassuring recovery, but not all regions are created equal.

Please click here to read the article

Retailers expanding pickup options, facing staff shortages this holiday season: report

Ahead of the holiday season, retail stores are preparing by ramping up fulfillment options and implementing safety measures, according to a new study by Ultimate Kronos Group (UKG).

Please click here to read the article

Please click here to read the morning newsletter

© 2020 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.