The Time Counts initiative includes 12 timepieces formerly owned by notable figures, including Guy Lalibert, founder of Cirque de Soleil and the One Drop Foundation. The lots are featured in Phillips' Racing Pulse watch auction on Dec. 12 in New York.

Time Counts

Mr. Lalibert donated four unique Audemars Piguet Royal Oak Grande Complications timepieces offered in stainless steel, pink gold, white gold and yellow gold.

Other Time Counts lots feature timepieces donated by His Serene Highness, Prince Albert II of Monaco. Rock star philanthropist Bono and keyboardist Rory Kaplan also donated watches for the auction, as did entrepreneur Kevin O'Leary and British Formula One racing legends David Coulthard and Sir Jackie Stewart.

Several of the lots are available without reserves and have six-figure estimates.

Both One Drop and the Prince Albert II of Monaco Foundations share the mission of providing access to safe water, sanitation and hygiene, and improving climate resilience for vulnerable communities. One Drop has been collaborating with Phillips for several years through exclusive lots incorporated into larger auction events (see story).

Other notable lots in the Racing Pulse auction for New York include Paul Newman's watch "Big Red Daytona," a Steve McQueen watch and a collection of watches from Sylvester Stallone (see story).
