

NEWS BRIEFS

Day's wrap: Burberry, Chinese government, LVMH, De Beers, Epicurious, South Korean retail and brand protection webinar

March 25, 2021

Burberry spoke up against forced labor allegations in the region. Image credit: Burberry

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for March 25:

Burberry, others face backlash over Xinjiang labor concerns

British fashion label Burberry is one of several brands enduring the wrath of Chinese state media and consumers after expressing concerns over alleged forced labor practices in China's Xinjiang region.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Please click here to read the article

LVMH, UNESCO partner on deforestation project

French luxury conglomerate LVMH has unveiled a new biodiversity strategy and a project to combat deforestation in the Amazon in partnership with nonprofit organization UNESCO.

Please click here to read the article

De Beers, Stanford launch business initiative in southern Africa

British jeweler De Beers Group and Stanford University Graduate School of Business are working together to help business leaders in southern African expand and transform their companies, communities and economies.

Please click here to read the article

Epicurious launches first cocktail recipe finder tool

Cond Nast-owned publication Epicurious has launched a new cocktail recipe initiative in a first-time partnership with online spirits retailer ReserveBar.

Please click here to read the article

South Korea sees greatest retail growth in 2 years

South Korea announced a 10 percent overall increase in February retail sales as markets in Asia continue their economic recovery amid the global COVID-19 pandemic.

Please click here to read the article

Webinar: Register now to learn why authentication matters more than ever

Register for the free webinar on April 7 at 11 a.m. to noon EST (New York time) titled, "Protecting brands from fast-growing counterfeiting, return fraud"

Please click here to register

Luxury hotels can expect bumpy ride as recovery begins

While the recovery of the luxury hospitality industry is on the horizon, hotels will need to prepare for changing consumer habits and preferences brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Please click here to read the article

Please click here to read the morning newsletter

© 2021 Napean LLC. All rights reserved.

Luxury Daily is published each business day. Thank you for reading us. Your feedback is welcome.