Now available for pre-sale, the Herms H08 Limited Edition for Hodinkee is a playful and casual watch suited for everyday wear. The exclusive piece is a special take on the H08 collection, which Herms debuted at Watches & Wonders 2021.

Herms x Hodinkee

Herms artistic director of menswear Vronique Nichanian and watchmaking creative director Philippe Delhotel worked closely with Hodinkee on the exclusive design.

The limited edition H08 has a 39 mm titanium case with a durable matte black finish and a black ceramic bezel, for a unique, mixed metals aesthetic. The dial and textured silicone are a contrasting taupe, while the orange arrow of the seconds hand is a nod to Herms' signature shade.

Only 100 numbered timepieces will be produced as part of the partnership, priced at $7,275 compared to the traditional titanium H08's price tag of $6,050.

The Herms H08 Limited Edition for Hodinkee is available exclusively through the Hodinkee Shop, and deliveries are scheduled to begin on Oct. 11.

The French maison has a long history in watchmaking and its mtier, Herms Horloger, was founded in 1978.

In December 2018, Herms and Hodinkee first partnered on the release of two watches, the Slim d'Herms for Hodinkee and the Slim d'Herms GMT for Hodinkee. The timepieces were limited to 100 and 24 pieces, respectively.

Watch collaborations are a fixture in the luxury world, bringing together brands from various sectors.

Italy's Giorgio Armani is teaming with Swiss watchmaker Parmigiani Fleurier to release a collection of fine watches, marking the first collaboration of this nature for the fashion label and its namesake founder.

The Giorgio Armani fine watch collection will go on sale in November 2021, and will be designed by Mr. Armani and Parmigiani Fleurier founder and master watchmaker Michel Parmigiani (see story).
