

NEWS BRIEFS

Fendi, Versace, Off-White, Karl Lagerfeld, Este Lauder and luxury industry education

May 3, 2022

Ibrahim Kamara, known familiarly as Ib Kamara, is the new artistic director of Off-White. Image credit: Off-White

By LUXURY DAILY NEWS SERVICE

Luxury Daily's live news for May 2:

Fendi, Versace collaborative collection arrives

Italian fashion house Fendi is launching its collaborative collection with Versace through a series of films and still imagery.

Subscribe to Luxury Daily
Plus: Just released
State of Luxury 2019 Save $246 ▶

Off-White names new art director

Luxury streetwear brand Off-White has announced Ibrahim Kamara as its newest art and image director five months since the passing of the brand's founder, Virgil Abloh.

Karl Lagerfeld owner acquires 100pc of brand

American apparel company G-III Apparel Group has announced it will purchase the remaining 81 percent stake in Paris-based brand Karl Lagerfeld becoming the sole owner.

Este Lauder recognizes AAPI community with inclusive program

Beauty group Este Lauder Companies is celebrating Asian Pacific American Heritage Month (APAHM) by honoring members of the Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) community.

Glion Institute announces free luxury industry course

Switzerland's Glion Institute of Higher Education is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year with the launch of a free online course dedicated to the luxury industry.